

- 2010 Training and Support Analyst
eLogic Learning
Primary developer of training on the eSSential LMS application serving organizations' training and compliance needs
- 2009 Designer/Developer
Designed and developed Web sites that won campaigns, promoted talent and built communities online
- 2008 Multimedia Lab Technician
University of South Florida
Improved training using eLearning and peer support techniques
- 2007 Online Editor
TheOracle
Integrated new media into publication through training and discourse in new media tools, skills and platforms
- 2006 Technical Director
APEX Distance Learning
Created job aids to quickly train in constant turnover
- 2004 Archivist and Model Maker
Jonathan Parks Architect
Classified and archived manufacturer and architect project materials into database
- 2003 Staff Carpenter
Ringling School of Art
Remodeled decrepit buildings into student housing and studio space
- Asst. Education Director
Aquarian Quest
Developed education strategy to connect students to their environment while aboard a 72' sailing classroom

David Harris solves problems with available resources and achieves project objectives systematically. He combines emerging technologies, established philosophies and results driven instructional design to reach project goals; simplifies the complex; disseminates information to a broad audience in a comprehensive way utilizing multimedia, Web and face-to-face strategies; competently executes new tasks with an eye on the bottom line, while evaluating the whole picture.

